

PRIVACY POLICY

The International College of Hotel Management (ICHM) is bound by the National Privacy Principles contained in the Commonwealth Privacy Act. This policy outlines how ICHM uses and manages personal information provided to or collected by it.

ICHM may from time to time, review and update this Privacy Policy to take account of new laws and technology, changes to our operations and practices and to make sure it remains appropriate to the changing school environment.

Collection of Personal Information

ICHM collects personal information, including sensitive information about:

- students and parents and/or guardians
- potential students
- former students, graduates and alumni
- staff members, volunteers and contractors
- potential employers and industry partners
- agents, school professionals and other people who come in contact with the ICHM

Personal information you provide: ICHM will generally collect personal information held about an individual by way of forms filled out by parents or students, face to face meetings, interviews, telephone calls and Internet or email enquiries. On occasions, people other than parents and students provide personal information.

Personal information provided by other people: In some circumstances, ICHM may be provided with personal information about an individual from a third party, for example a report provided by a medical professional, an agent, another school or industry newsletters and trade journals.

Exception in relation to employee records: Under the Privacy Act, the National Privacy Principles do not apply to an employee record. As a result, this Privacy Policy does not apply to the School's treatment of an employee record, where the record is directly related to a current or former employee of ICHM.

Use of Personal Information

ICHM will use personal information it collects for the primary purpose of communicating with potential students, students and graduates, maintaining student records and providing hotel management education and for such other secondary purposes that are related to the primary purpose and are reasonably expected or for which consent has been granted.

Students and Parents: The purposes for which ICHM uses personal information of students and parents include:

- to keep students informed about matters related to them, through correspondence, newsletters and magazines
- day to day administration of the College
- looking after a student's educational, social and medical wellbeing
- marketing for the School
- satisfying our various legal obligations (including the preservation of academic records) and allowing the School to discharge its duty of care.

ICHM may not be able to enrol or continue the enrolment of a student if necessary information about the student or parent is not provided.

Job applicants, staff members and contractors: In relation to personal information of job applicants, staff and contractors, ICHM's primary purpose of collection is to assess and (if successful) to engage the applicant, staff member or contractor, to maintain adequate personnel and professional development records and to comply with statutory requirements.

The purposes for which ICHM uses personal information of job applicants, staff members and contractors include:

- administering the individual's employment or contract
- satisfying insurance requirements
- marketing for the School
- satisfying the School's legal obligations

Agents, Employers, School Teachers and Other Education Professionals: ICHM maintains records of employers who accept students as part of the co-operative education process and vocational education professionals who partner with ICHM to provide to school students, quality advice and material to support career choice. Printed material of interest to prospective students and other promotional material distributed to education professionals and to industry partners ensure that ICHM continues to be a quality learning environment engaged with industry.

ICHM publications, such as newsletters and magazines, which include personal information and sometimes visual images, may be used for marketing purposes.

Disclosure of Personal Information

With consent, ICHM may disclose personal information, including sensitive information held about an individual to:

- another school or university
- government departments
- medical practitioners
- people providing services to the School, including educational specialists, visiting lecturers and sports coaches
- recipients of School publications, such as newsletters and magazines
- newspapers and trade journals
- parent associations/committees

International College of Hotel Management

- potential employers
- other parents or guardians or
- anyone you authorise the School to disclose information to

Sending information overseas: ICHM will not send personal information about an individual outside Australia without:

- obtaining consent of the individual (in some cases, consent will be implied) or
- otherwise complying with the National Privacy Principles

Sensitive Information

In referring to 'sensitive information' ICHM means information relating to a person's racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religion, trade union or other professional or trade association membership, sexual preferences, criminal record and health information about an individual.

Sensitive information will be used and disclosed only for the purpose for which it was provided or a directly related secondary purpose, unless you agree otherwise, or the use or disclosure of the sensitive information is allowed by law.

Management and Security of Personal Information

ICHM's staff are required to respect the confidentiality of students', parents' and guardians' personal information and the privacy of individuals. ICHM has in place steps to protect the personal information ICHM holds from misuse, loss, unauthorised access, modification or disclosure by use of various methods including locked storage of paper records and pass worded access rights to computerised records.

Computer Usage

Computers are provided for students at ICHM. While ICHM's interest is to prevent illicit, illegal and excessive usage, students should be aware that ICHM will monitor usage with regard to the sites visited and the items down-loaded.

Updating Information

ICHM endeavours to ensure that the personal information it holds is accurate, complete and up-to-date. A person may seek to update their personal information held by ICHM at anytime.

Access to Personal Information

Under the Commonwealth Privacy Act, an individual has the right to request access to any personal information which ICHM holds about them and to advise ICHM of any perceived inaccuracy. There are some circumstances where access may be denied. Such circumstances would include where release of the information would have an unreasonable impact on the privacy of others, or where the release may result in the breach of ICHM's duty of care to the student. Students will have access to their own personal information, unless they are less than 18 years of age, in which case their parents will have independent access. Students may authorise their parents to have access to their own details.

Requests to access or amend any information ICHM holds about you or your child should be forwarded in writing to the Chief Executive. ICHM may require you to verify your identity and specify what information you wish to view.

Consent

Generally, ICHM will refer any requests for consent and notices in relation to the personal information of a student to the student alone. ICHM will discuss general information with parents who have signed the application form for entry to ICHM as sponsor/guardian. However sensitive information will not be released without specific approval.
